NEWSLETTER

February 2019

Welcome back to the second half of the Spring Term
We have plenty of fun themed fundraising, events and competitions lined up, details of which are in this newsletter, but please also keep an eye on the school newsletter and the FoTs facebook page for further updates.

World Book Day Bake Off

To mark this years world book day we are organising a book themed 'bake off' on Friday 8th March. Entries should be inspired by a book, character or part of a story and there will be a prize for the winning home baked entry from each class. If you wish to enter, please bring your creation to school with you on Friday along with the completed entry slip or details of your name, class, name of the character, storyline or book title your bake is based on. This competition is free to enter but we ask that you donate your bake to our cake sale which will take place after school that day. Any other cakes and bakes will also be much appreciated for our sale.

Storyteller Sessions – Continuing with the theme of World Book Day, FoTs have arranged and funded for Jake the Storyteller to spend the day in school on 20th March. Some of you may have seen Jake in action at some of the local National Trust Properties, he was also winner of National Young Storyteller of the Year in 2014, so we think his sessions will be really engaging and lots of fun for the children.

Mothers Day Wrap

The Mothers Day wrap is being held on Thursday 28th March. Please look out for our letter and reply slip which will be sent home with Children nearer the time. In order for our 'wraps' to be a success, we rely heavily on your kind donations of gifts, confectionery etc. Please either pass any donations onto a member of FoTs in the playground or alternatively, leave in the FoTs postbox by Mrs Richards office. If you are able to help wrap on the morning, please let us know.

Decorated Egg Competition

We hope to run a decorated hard boiled egg competition prior to breaking up for Easter. Children will be asked to decorate their hard boiled eggs at home and bring into school for the competition. Details will be sent out nearer the time.
